

CLIENT WEB SERVER

How many orders can you process at once?

You want to place rush orders for records delivery.

Another department want to locate that important document and view it... now. And yet another wants to purchase new boxes.

The fax is busy, and the phones are ringing off the hook.

Process your orders online!

Don't pick up the phone. Place your order— in seconds.

Increase efficiency and your bottom line by selecting a better way to manage your company's own data storage inventory — online with DataLockDown's Client Web Server.

Users can access documents stored at DataLockDown's secured facility over the internet with any standard web browser. Our clients can place orders for pick-up or delivery, track the status of orders, run queries and print reports. Our clients can even view digitally-imaged documents online.

We put the details into our client's hands. Simply choose which service you would like to have available and we allow you to handle your own orders — including those miscellaneous services such as purchasing boxes. DataLockDown's staff just prints the orders created by our clients.

Save time, reduce costs and efficiently process more orders.

We answer our client's needs —

Process More Orders.

Save Time and Money.

Let Technology Work for You.

Get the Solution.

Process More Orders.

We let our clients initiate and track their own work orders online with our Client Web Server. With this powerful connection, our clients can view digital files created upon request with Scan-On-Demand™ or archive files created with our High Speed Digital Imaging. Fully integrated with DataLockDown's Records Management Software, these digital imaging solutions work together to expand our services, increase your bottom line and meet the your business demands. Take advantage of the technology — from DataLockDown.
