

HIGH-SPEED DIGITAL IMAGING

How fast and how far do you need files delivered?

You are meeting with your biggest account and need to access some files that are at our facility. At the same time, you want to view those documents during a conference call with key people across the country.

Think outside of the box, and go digital!

We will keep you and your clients happy with DataLockDown's High-Speed Digital Imaging. This product allows multiple users to simultaneously view their digital images anywhere in the world – instantly.

Fully integrated with Scan-On-Demand and DataLockDown's Records Management Software, High-Speed Digital Imaging efficiently converts documents into digital format where they can be easily accessed, viewed and shared online or over a secured network. In addition, we can copy these files to CD and provide you with an onsite digital archive.

As documents are scanned, bar code lead sheets identify each document, automatically linking the image with the corresponding reference information. The efficient use of bar code lead sheets reduces our labor costs and increases efficiency and productivity.

Digital Imaging creates a safe and traceable access route back to each person who has handled these images.

Think Outside of the Box.

We scan and digitally archive large volumes of files with DataLockDown's High-Speed Digital Imaging. We write files to CDs, or give our clients instant access to digital files online with DataLockDown's Client Web Server. When a new document is needed to be delivered in a hurry, we make it available electronically with Scan-On-Demand. We offer a full range of digital imaging business solutions that are fully integrated with our core Records Management Software.
